

MELALEUCA (TEA TREE)

Energetic Boundaries

Disinfectant by nature, Melaleuca, also known as tea tree oil, clears negative energetic baggage. It specifically releases codependent and parasitic relationships. These toxic relationships may be with people, microorganisms in the physical body, or spiritual beings. Individuals may feel drained of life force and energy, but they may not be consciously aware of the source of this energy leakage. Melaleuca helps break the negative ties in these kinds of relationships so that new, healthy connections may be formed that honor one's personal space and boundaries. This energetic "vampirism" between organisms violates the laws of nature. Melaleuca encourages an individual to connect to people and beings in ways that honor and respect others' agency. It helps individuals recognize the parts of themselves that invited and allowed these kinds of relationships to exist in the first place.

Through these empowering processes, Melaleuca encourages individuals to relinquish all forms of self-betrayal, including allowing others to take advantage of one's time, energy, or talents; letting others feed on one's energy; not standing up for oneself; or feeling responsible for the problems of others. Melaleuca assists individuals in purification practices and in releasing toxic debris.

NEGATIVE EMOTIONS: Parasitic and codependent relationships, poor boundaries, weak-willed, drained, emotional toxicity, powerless

POSITIVE PROPERTIES: Energetic boundaries, healthy and respectful connections, empowered, resilient, safe

COMPANION OILS: Clove, TerraShield, On Guard, Lemon-grass, Lemon Myrtle, Yarrow | Pom

SUGGESTED USES:

Aromatic: Inhale from bottle, diffuse, or place drops in hand, rub, and inhale.

Topical: Apply 1-3 drops on bottom of feet or the crown of the head.

Environmental: Add several drops into spray bottle and mist around home.